WELCOME

from the 2023 CSG East
Annual Meeting Co-Chairs

Dear Colleagues,

As co-chairs of the CSG East 62nd Annual Meeting and Regional Policy Forum, it is our pleasure to welcome you to Toronto, Ontario! Toronto is a vibrant, internationally renowned city — the perfect location to complement our meeting's engaging sessions and activities.

This year's theme, See the Other Side, is based on the Legislative Assembly of Ontario's motto, "audi alteram partem," meaning to hear the other side. Canada and the United States share economic ties, a dedication to democratic ideals, and a long-lasting friendship. With its suggestion of a multilateral approach, our theme provides a strong guiding point for the development of policies and ideas that will be of benefit to member jurisdictions on both sides of the border.

Now more than ever, the CSG East Annual Meeting is vital to strengthening regional relationships as our areas face ever-increasing rates of change. We are grateful for your participation and look forward to an exchange of perspectives that invigorate existing ties and create new and lasting connections.

Thank you for coming. We hope you enjoy all of your conference experiences in Toronto and Ontario. If we can be of assistance during your stay, please let us know.

HON. TED ARNOTT

*Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario
CSG East Co-Chair*

MR. JAMIE WEST

ABOUT CSG EAST

CSG Mission

The Council of State Governments (CSG) is the nation's only regionally based, multibranch organization serving all 50 states, and commonwealths, as well as U.S. territories. Since the creation of CSG in 1933, state officials have turned to the organization as an impartial source of information to help them meet the challenge of governing. As a national organization representing all three branches of state government, CSG is uniquely suited to identify innovative approaches to common problems facing states.

CSG Eastern Regional Conference (CSG East)

The CSG East office, located in New York City since 1937, serves legislative, executive and judicial branch officials from the 11 eastern states that span from Maine to Maryland, as well as officials in Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and the eastern Canadian provinces of Québec, New Brunswick, Ontario, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. CSG East educates policymakers about issues of concern to the region, encourages multistate problem-solving and partnerships, and promotes regional interests at the federal level.

The Annual Meeting & Regional Policy Forum

The CSG East Annual Meeting and Regional Policy Forum brings together policymakers from all branches of government who are within the member jurisdictions of CSG East to connect with experts from the private sector and academia to address a range of critical public policy issues facing the region. This unique event enables attendees to share ideas and network, in addition to serving as a vehicle for enhanced regional cooperation and communication.

BUSINESS PROGRAM

2:30 – 5:30 p.m.

Education and Workforce Development

Toronto III

Presiding: Senator Hannah Gallo, Rhode Island; Chair, CSG East Education and Workforce Development Committee

1. THE BENEFITS AND COSTS OF EXPANDING EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND CHILD CARE

Panelists

- Senator Alison Clarkson, Majority Leader, Vermont
- Senator Donna Frett-Gregory, U.S. Virgin Islands
- Holly Moran, Assistant Deputy Minister, Ministry of Education, Early Years and Child Care Division, Ontario

Early childhood education is a core component of building strong communities, preparing children for the future, and supporting working parents. As more parents seek quality early childhood education, costs have risen sharply, and policymakers are being pushed to find ways to expand access, increase quality, and simultaneously improve affordability and educator pay and working conditions.

This session presents a facilitated discussion on existing childhood education models in various states and provinces and the outcomes of these services. Attendees can discuss costs, strategies, and policy implications with panelists and are encouraged to share changes and innovative solutions from their own jurisdictions.

2. HOW CAN EXPANDING WORKFORCE PIPELINES ADDRESS LABOR SHORTAGES?

Panelists

- Humberto Mercader, Deputy Secretary for Strategic Initiatives, Department of Economic Development and Commerce, Puerto Rico
- Lee Umphrey, President and CEO, Eastern Maine Development Corporation
- Colby Thornton, Vice President of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, Lifelong Learning Administration Corporation

Provincial and state policymakers looking to address local and national labor shortages have come to a common solution: establishing, maintaining, and improving workforce pipelines. Apprenticeships and other work-based learning opportunities, for example, are being used to incentivize and create pathways for students and career-seekers of all ages to rapidly train, upskill, and ultimately find jobs in key industries facing labor shortages. These systems can also improve employment outcomes for people of color, individuals with disabilities, and rural and low-income workers.

This session outlines various work-based learning opportunities being deployed in the region and around the continent for students and job-seekers of all kinds. Open discussion will follow a moderated panel. Attendees will be invited to share examples from their province or state, ask questions, and contribute to this region-wide dialogue.

Energy and Environment Policy Committee

Toronto II

PART I: AN OVERVIEW OF CANADIAN CARBON PRICING POLICIES

Moderator: Senator Marc Pacheco, Massachusetts; Co-Chair, CSG East Energy and Environment Committee

Speaker: Dave Sawyer, Principal Economist, Canadian Climate Institute

Since 2019, Canada has required every province and territory to put a price on carbon pollution, either by designing their own system tailored to local needs, or by choosing the federal pricing system. This session will provide an overview of Canada's carbon-pricing policies and of how the revenues are being used in different jurisdictions.

8:00 – 9:45 a.m.

Transportation Policy Committee Meeting

MacDonald – Lismer

Presiding: Senator Lou DiPalma, Rhode Island; Vice Chair, CSG East Transportation Committee

The Transportation Committee will hold several sessions covering critical issues addressing transportation issues relevant to the Canada and the United States.

1. RAIL SAFETY DISCUSSION

Speaker: Melissa Connolly, Assistant Vice President of Government Affairs, Association of American Railroads (AAR)

The first topic for discussion will focus on rail safety. We will hear from Melissa Connolly from the Association of American Railroads. With the recent derailments in the U.S. and the horrific 2013 Lac-Mégantic disaster, the committee will hear of steps being taken or proposed to advance rail safety across the U.S. and Canada.

In addition to the update on rail safety measures, attendees will be invited to participate in a dialogue on what their provinces and states have considered for advancing rail safety.

2. ELECTRIC VEHICLES (EVS) PANEL

Panelists:

- Senator Lou DiPalma, Rhode Island; Vice Chair, CSG East Transportation Committee
- Jordann Thirgood, Manager, Public Policy at CSA Group

The second panel will focus on the implications of the advent of electric vehicles (EVs) with a special focus on impacts to regional infrastructure. This panel will look at what is being done to prepare for the rapid deployment of EVs from a best practices perspective. The panel will examine how CSG East member jurisdictions are building out EV charging networks and also how they are managing the potential impact of EVs on tax revenues.

The Transportation Committee will break for coffee, served in the Toronto Foyer from 9:45 – 10:00 a.m. The next transportation-related session begins at 10:00 a.m. (see joint session with Canada-U.S. Committee further below)

BUSINESS PROGRAM

8:50 – 10:30 a.m.

Energy and Environment Policy Committee

Toronto II

PART II: STRATEGIES FOR PROMOTING BENEFICIAL ELECTRIFICATION IN BUILDINGS

Moderator: Senator Marc Pacheco, Massachusetts; Co-Chair, CSG East Energy and Environment Committee

Speakers:

- Keishaa Austin, Head of Community, Rewiring America
- Luis Aguirre-Torres, Director of Financial Planning and Analysis and Financing Solutions, New York State Energy Research and Development Authority (NYSERDA)
- Assemblymember Didi Barrett, New York; Chair, New York Assembly Committee on Energy
- Keith Burrows, Director, Low Carbon Buildings, The Atmospheric Fund
- Senator Anne Watson, Vermont; Vice Chair, Vermont Senate Committee on Natural Resources and Energy

There is general agreement that meeting U.S. and Canadian carbon-reduction goals will require a rapid shift from technologies powered by fossil fuels to those powered by clean energy – a process known as electrification. While the region has made strides in ramping up large-scale renewables and developing an electric vehicle infrastructure, moving away from fossil fuels in the built environment – which generates nearly 40% of annual global emissions – has proven more complex.

This session will explore best practices for incentivizing building electrification, particularly in existing buildings in underserved communities, whose residents are most likely to face high energy burdens and the negative health effects of indoor air pollution.

The Committee will break for coffee, served in the Toronto Foyer from 10:30 – 10:45 a.m., before reconvening for a joint session with the agriculture and rural affairs committee at 10:45 (see “Regenerative Agriculture” below).

9:20 – 10:30 a.m.

Washington Update

Harris

Fran Boyd, Senior Vice President, Meyers and Associates, Inc.

Fran Boyd, CSG East's Washington advisor on agricultural and rural issues, will give members an update on Congressional and federal issues of importance to our region.

The Committee will break for coffee, served in the Toronto Foyer from 10:30 – 10:45 a.m., before reconvening for a joint session with the energy and environmental committee at 10:45 a.m. (see “Regenerative Agriculture” below).

10:00 – 11:45 a.m.

Border Transportation Infrastructure Panel

MacDonald – Lismer

Joint Session: Canada-U.S. Relations + Transportation

Speakers:

- Assemblymember Billy Jones, New York State Assembly
- Debra A. Nelson, Director, Office of Policy, Planning & Performance, New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT)
- Polina Hristeva, Director, Highways, Border and Motor Carrier policy, Transport Canada/Government of Canada

The transportation infrastructure between Canada and the U.S. is paramount in fostering economic growth, strengthening diplomatic ties, and facilitating the safe, secure, and efficient movement of people and goods across borders. This extensive network of roads, railways, bridges, ports, and airports is a critical gateway for bilateral trade that remains one of the world's largest and most dynamic trading relationships.

Efficient transportation links play a vital role in promoting cross-border commerce and the movement of people. The smooth flow of goods between the two nations enhances supply chains, boosts competitiveness, and lowers production costs for businesses on both sides of the border. During this Joint Transportation/Canada-U.S. Relations Committee meeting, we will hear from speakers on the interconnectedness and importance of integrating transportation infrastructure.

Roundtable Discussion

Attending states and provinces called in alphabetical order.

Co-Moderators:

- Senator Lou DiPalma, Rhode Island; Chair, CSG East Transportation Committee
- Assemblymember Billy Jones, New York; Chair, CSG East Canada-US Relations Committee

10:45 a.m. – noon

Regenerative Agriculture, Carbon Sequestration, and Carbon Markets

- Alan Martinez, Senior Manager, Strategic Partnerships, Cornell Atkinson Center for Sustainability
- Elizabeth Sheppard, Manager, Integrated Supply Chain and Agriculture Strategy, McCain Foods
- Assemblymember Didi Barrett, New York; Chair, New York Assembly Committee on Energy

Agriculture accounts for approximately 10 percent of North American green-house gas emissions, and President Biden has pledged $22 billion to bolster USDA programs that will help farmers adapt to new, environmentally friendly practices. What role can states and provinces play in the future? How do carbon markets work? How do farmers benefit? What do legislators need to know?

MacDonald – Lismer

The State of Equitable Governance, Part III (Continued from the 2019 Annual meeting)

Moderator: Delegate Joseline Peña-Melnyk

Speakers:

- Delegate Adrienne Jones, Speaker of the House of Delegates, Maryland
- Senator Teresa Ruiz, Senate Majority Leader, New Jersey
- Peter Groff, former Colorado Senate President
- Colby Thornton, Vice President of Diversity Equity and Inclusion, Lifelong Learning Administration Corporation
- Sarita Turner, Senior Fellow, Prosperity Now

This is the third part of an ongoing series of discussions activated in 2019 during the CSG Annual Meeting in Pittsburgh. Just as BIPOC (Black, Brown, Indigenous, and other People of Color) communities face an array of challenges in society today ranging from centuries of systemic racism to persistent inequality, legislators of color are faced with the same challenges, often in ways unique to legislative environments. These multi-pronged discussions are designed not only to identify those challenges, but to offer effective strategies for BIPOC legislators to better navigate hostile institutional environments and, through struggle, find wins and arrive at the best outcomes for their constituents. In addition, this session will emphasize the critical importance of equity as central to all policymaking and the achievement of better governance. We'll prove that discourse on equitable governance is not just an important exercise for BIPOC legislators, but that it is an important exercise for all legislators.

3. AGRICULTURE AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Harris

The Farm Bills – A Look at Canada and the United States

Speakers:

- Josh Tonsager, Alex Noffsinger, and Allie Lock; Staff members for U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow, Chair of U.S. Senate Agriculture Committee

Disruptive Equitable Design: Protecting our communities and ending displacement

Moderator: Delegate Joseline Peña-Melnyk

Speakers:

- Peter Groff, former Colorado Senate President
- Tommy Joshua, Founder and CEO, North Philly Peace Park
- Sarita Turner, Senior Fellow, Prosperity Now
- Zulene Mayfield, Chester Residents Concerned for Quality Living
- Representative Chris Rabb, Pennsylvania
- Representative Enrique Sánchez, Rhode Island

Most BIPOC policymakers represent communities regularly and disproportionately hit by injustice, inequity, and the calamities or consequences resulting from either. These issues are extraordinarily destructive to unique populations that are mostly low-wealth and low-resourced. Black and Brown demographics, particularly in urban or metropolitan regions, are constantly battered by issues around housing unaffordability, violence, broken education systems, health disparities, and threats from pollution and climate crisis. This discussion will explore strategies and suggestions to policymakers on how they can better respond to these struggles and best collaborate with their underserved constituents.

2. HEALTH

Harris

The Mental Health Crisis

Presiding: Senator Gustavo Rivera, New York

Speaker: Delegate Kevin Harris, Maryland

A growing, tragic dilemma confronts the U.S. and Canada, with millions of people experiencing mental illness and substance abuse problems every year. In any given year, 1-in-5 people in Canada and the U.S. will personally experience a mental health issue with significant physical, social, and economic consequences. It is estimated that 50% of the US population will experience mental illness at some point in their lives. Many state-level policies — health, housing, criminal, and educational — are essential to improving mental health outcomes and reducing the growing burden of mental health issues on individuals, communities, and states/provinces. The COVID-19 pandemic focused greater attention on this growing problem, particularly the increase of mental health problems among adolescents and young adults. States are playing a major role, developing policies to address the prevention and treatment to improve mental health and reduce the impact of mental illnesses. Policies for expanding Medicare coverage, addressing social determinants, global budgeting, and expanding reimbursement are among the policy approaches. Join U.S. and Canadian officials to discuss the unique challenges and innovations that emerged in 2023.

3. MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

Tom Thomson

Military Family Resilience

Presiding: Senator Sharon Carson, Majority Leader, New Hampshire

Moderator: Chris Arnold, Defense-State Liaison Office, U.S. Department of Defense

Panelists:

- Melissa Willette, New England Region Liaison, U.S. Department of Defense State Liaison Office
- Stephanie Shaw, Project Manager, Corrections and Reentry, CSG Justice Center

This panel will discuss a series of topics where state policymakers can play a role in supporting the health and well-being of military family members. Topics will include concurrent juvenile jurisdiction at military installations to allow state courts to provide more appropriate outcomes for harmful behavior in children and youth, approaches to the interstate portability of licensed professional mental health providers, and ways in which states have addressed military interpersonal violence to support victims, hold perpetrators accountable, and prevent future misconduct to ensure military dependents do not face gaps in support and protection.

Roundtable on State Policies Governing PFAS

Moderator: Representative Lori Gramlich, Maine; House Chair, Committee on Environment and Natural Resources

Speakers:

- Senator Katie Fry Hester, Maryland; Senate Chair, Joint Committee on Cyber Security, Information Technology, and Biotechnology
- Representative Terri Cortvriend, Rhode Island

In recent years, a growing number of states have established policies to address contamination from per- and polyfluorinated alkyl substances (PFAS), which have been used in the manufacture of thousands of products, including cookware, cosmetics, food packaging, carpets, and firefighting foams. In this roundtable discussion, officials will discuss legislative and regulatory efforts to eliminate exposure to PFAS in drinking water and sludge, ban or phase out its use in a wide range of products, and promote safer alternatives.

2. HEALTH COMMITTEE AND COUNCIL ON COMMUNITIES OF COLOR

Organization and Financing of Healthcare in the U.S. and Canada: Similar Problems, Different Approaches

Moderator: Charles Ellison, Policy Consultant, Council on Communities of Color

Speakers:

- Shirley Girouard, Ph.D., RN, FAAN, CSG East Health Policy Consultant; co-director, geriatric workforce program, SUNY Downstate
- Jeffrey Novak, Acting Financial Accountability Officer, Financial Accountability Office of Ontario
- Senator Gustavo Rivera, CSG East Health Committee Chair

The COVID-19 pandemic strained the healthcare systems in the U.S. and Canada in terms of human and economic costs. In a recent survey, only 18 percent of Canadians believed the health care system was working well and 54 percent believed change was needed. Lack of federal funding and inefficient provincial management were named as causes of the problem. A U.S. Gallup Poll survey had similar results, showing that 70 percent of Americans felt the health system was “in a state of crisis” or having “major problems.” Access and inequitable health services, insurance coverage, and costs of care were cited as major issues.

Many states and provinces are identifying causes of the problem and developing funding, organization, and care delivery policies and regulations to bring about needed change. This session provides a forum to learn from other states and provinces about their policy and regulatory innovations for funding, cost containment, equity, etc.

THE COSTS OF THE NORTH AMERICAN AFFORDABLE HOUSING CRISIS

Welcome

Mr. Jamie West, Member of Provincial Parliament, Ontario, CSG East Co-Chair

Moderator:

Jennifer Keesmaat, Urban Planner, Ontario

Speakers:

- Professor Tim Aubry, School of Psychology and Senior Researcher, University of Ottawa; co-chair, Canadian Housing First Network
- Ryan Fecteau, Senior Advisor, Community and Strategic Initiatives, Governor's Office of Policy Innovation and the Future, Maine
- Mike Moffat, Assistant Professor, Business, Economics and Public Policy, Ivey School of Business, Western University, Ontario

In every region of the U.S. and Canada, a worsening housing crisis is threatening to put homeownership out of reach for many, squeeze family budgets for renters and homeowners alike, and push thousands into emergency shelters or onto the street. The lack of housing supply, especially affordable housing, is now driving negative outcomes in education, health, and employment as well. In 2021, nearly one-third of all U.S. households – and half of all renters – spent more than 30 percent of their income on housing, which is considered the threshold for being “cost burdened.” In Canada, the situation is no better. More than 20 percent of Canadian households exceeded this affordability benchmark in 2021, including one-third of all renters.

Join policy experts from the United States and Canada to discuss strategies for better aligning efforts to improve access to affordable housing with actions to decrease homelessness, remove barriers to housing assistance, and strengthen partnerships with local communities.

2:30 – 5:00 p.m.

Canada-U.S. Relations

Tom Thomson

Presiding: Assemblymember Billy Jones, New York, Co-Chair, CSG East Canada-U.S. Relations Committee

Regional Roundtable: Assemblymember Jones will discuss his efforts to set up the Task Force on New York Canada Relations, which was launched by New York State Assembly Speaker Carl Heastie in March. The task force seeks to foster the relationship between New York and Canada, raise awareness of the importance of the relationship to all New Yorkers, not just those on the border. Similar task forces on bilateral relations in other CSG East jurisdictions will also be considered.

Members will discuss challenges in each CSG East jurisdiction as border states and provinces continue to work towards improved relations that were severely disrupted during the pandemic. Issues to be reviewed include cross-border transportation, tourism, border security, economic development, as well as concerns at the federal level.

3:30 – 5:30 p.m.

OFF-SITE: Health Policy visit to South Riverdale Community Health Centre

Those joining the visit will have an opportunity to see the facility and speak with staff about the center's programs aimed at prevention and reducing the harm caused by opioids and other substances. BREAKING THE ICE WITH CHAI AND CHUTNEY

Speaker: Harnaryan Singh, play-by-play commentator, Hockey Night in Canada, and national bestselling author of One Game at a Time

From one of the distinct and vibrant voices behind Hockey Night in Canada comes the story of pursuing a dream and defying the odds. Harnaryan Singh invites audiences to experience his improbable and incredible journey, giving them a look at the power of perseverance and community. Like many of his hockey-loving peers, Alberta-native Harnaryan Singh dreamt about a career within the sanctum of the sport they idolized. But, there was a slight difference – he didn't look like his classmates nor the broadcasters on television.

Whether you're working in a classroom, corporate setting or household, Harnaryan shares the lessons learned from his experiences to explain why incorporating diversity, equity and inclusion into an organization's DNA is the only way forward. Through his memorable stories, he helps guide audiences through challenging and emotional conversations. He reminds us that such discussions are wholly necessary for organizations to progress through equitable ways.

CSG/ERC and the University of Pennsylvania Fels Institute of Government invite you to apply to join the 2023 Robert J. Thompson Eastern Leadership Academy (ELA) class. This unique program will hone your leadership skills with other talented and high-achieving state and provincial officials from the CSG Eastern Regional Conference.

The ELA Application Review Committee looks for applicants who demonstrate:

- Leadership potential, including problem-solving and consensus-building skills.
- Dedication to public service.
- Commitment to improving government institutions and respect for state and provincial government.

HOW TO APPLY

In addition to the application form, each applicant must submit a résumé, a cover letter describing interest in ELA, and a letter of recommendation from a legislative leader or ERC Executive Committee member.

For more information, please visit csg-erc.org/leadership-training/#eastern-leadership-academy.

ELA'S PARTNER: UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA'S FELS INSTITUTE OF GOVERNMENT

The Fels Institute of Government is the University of Pennsylvania's graduate program in public policy and public management. Its personal and practical approach to public management education and its relatively small size make it one of the nation's leading boutique programs in public affairs. The Institute was founded in 1937 by Philadelphia entrepreneur and philanthropist Samuel L. Fels of the Fels Naptha Soap Company in response to a wave of public corruption and mismanagement in Pennsylvania government. Its roots in state government continue today through its partnership with ELA and through other custom-designed executive education programs with state governments and the associations that serve them.
